Fintech Connect: A Different Kind of Credit Union Event

What sets Fintech Connect apart and why I look forward to it every year

AWe're getting close to one of my favorite CCUA events of the year. On June 17, CCUA will host the Third Annual Fintech Connect Conference in Nashua, New Hampshire bringing together credit union leaders and fintech innovators for a day built around practical conversations and meaningful connections.

From the Cyber Showcase and Quick Connect sessions to live demonstrations and real-world solutions, Fintech Connect is designed to move beyond traditional conference experiences and create opportunities for collaboration that matter.

Fintech Quick Connect

Beyond business cards: connections that move credit unions forward

Quick Connect, held during the Fintech Connect Conference on June 17 in Nashua, New Hampshire, offers a unique opportunity for credit union leaders to engage directly with the CEOs and founders driving innovation across the fintech space. Designed as a tailored networking experience, the session creates meaningful conversations around emerging technologies and solutions that can help credit unions strengthen member service and enhance operations. Registration closes soon, making now the time to secure a spot and take advantage of this opportunity.

Attendees will participate in one of two sessions, connecting one-on-one with fintech leaders to explore solutions aligned with their organization's goals and members' needs. These focused conversations provide opportunities to ask questions, gain personalized insights, and discover new approaches in areas including artificial intelligence, lending, fraud prevention, data analytics, digital engagement, and more.
