Statement from the Cooperative Credit Union Association

Vega Decides to Remain at Her NCUA Post

October 25, 2018 (MARLBOROUGH, MASS.)— At CCUA's recent Annual Convention, the board announced its selection of Sarah Vega as the new President and CEO of the Association. Unfortunately, Sarah has reconsidered her acceptance of CCUA's offer and has instead decided to remain in her position as Chief of Staff to Chairman McWatters.

Sarah is passionate about credit unions throughout the country and excited about the bi-partisan manner in which the NCUA Board is operating. She feels that there is unfinished business at the agency and wants to continue in her role in the completion of the work that the chairman has begun.

CCUA's Board of Directors will immediately begin meeting to resume the search process and looks forward to identifying a qualified candidate for the president and CEO position, who will lead the Association into the future.

About the Cooperative Credit Union Association

The Cooperative Credit Union Association is a regional trade organization serving as the voice for nearly 200-member credit unions primarily located in the States of Delaware, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island. CCUA members hold combined assets in excess of $45 billion and serve a collective membership base of more than 2.3 million consumers. It's on behalf of these member credit unions that CCUA advocates before Congress and state legislatures, regulatory bodies and to the general public through its Better Values—Better Banking consumer awareness campaign. In addition to advocacy, CCUA also engages its members with an array of industry resources, from compliance assets and marketing support to vetted products and service providers; educational workshops and conferences; and, a variety of communications, from a daily e-newsletter to simulcast video programs.
